

JANUARY 2010

inRegister

WINTER BRIDAL ISSUE

Diamond Girl

Samantha Mainier weds Andrew Roth at Notre Dame

Newlyweds Keys to Urban living

Cajun Karl spice up dinner party

Dr. Fanou holds heart in her hand

Change Service Requested

5-DIGIT 70130
##A1T0#SCH 5-DIGIT 70130
P570 10 948 St Electric Lights
721 10011 St
New Orleans LA 70130-2232

55 P2

PSRT STD
U.S. POSTAGE
PAID
BROWNSVILLE, LA
Permit No. 1617

$2.95

King-Shirley

Justin King and Sarah Shirley met 15 years ago, on their first day of sixth grade, at the Dunham School tennis courts. Justin was the “new kid,” and Sarah had been at Dunham since preschool. A middle-school crush eventually grew into a grown-up romance, and the childhood sweethearts decided to marry.

Justin always wanted a destination wedding, and Sarah dreamed of a plantation wedding, so a celebration at Nottoway Plantation was ideal. Friends and family gathered for a weekend of beautiful weather in the perfect Southern setting. Justin and Sarah exchanged vows Oct. 17.

With a nod to the bride’s sweet tooth, the reception included a fully stocked candy buffet and a five-tier cake from Baum’s.

After a weekend with those who had been part of their 15-year love story, the bride and groom set off for a honeymoon at a secluded resort in Antigua.

Parents are John and Debbie Shirley and Katherine King and Warren King.

The couple makes their home in Baton Rouge.

1. Sarah & Justin King
2. A portrait of the bride at Nottoway
3. The newlyweds with their wedding party
4. A candy bar included treats in every color

PHOTOS BY AARON CORMIER