Top, from far left: The pool area is paved with blue-stone and outfitted with Munder-Skiles furniture. In the poolhouse, mahogany doors by Marvin Windows and Doors open onto a loggia; a Lee Jofa floral was used for the curtains and pair of Victoria Hagan slipper chairs, the chandelier is by Paul Ferrante, the 19th-century carved-wood eagle is from Parc Monceau, and the cocktail table is by Rose Tarlow Melrose House.

Bottom, from far left: The poolhouse kitchen features Urban Archaeology pendant lights, a Thermador range, a sink fittings by Michael S. Smith for Kallista, and counter stools from Walters; the Roman shade is made of a Jasper print, the backsplash is of Waterworks tile, and the walls are painted in a Benjamin Moore blue. A barn on the property houses most of the family's animals, Munder-Skiles furniture graces a terrace.
